Feedback, both positive and negative (including complaints), is an important part of providing quality services and improving supports.

POLICY

All parties do however need to be sensitive and realistic in regards to available financial and human resources. If the complaint is one related to funding, the individual, family and or guardian will work collectively in bringing the matter to the attention of the appropriate funding source.

This procedure may be used by any of the following parties in situations where they may have a dispute, including those related to services and supports provided, with CLNG.

- Persons served, or their family members/advocates
- Students or volunteers
- Members of the Community
- Outside organizations or groups
